

Welcome to Year 12 History

In the first year of A level study, students consider the key factors in the beginning of the Tudor period of English history under Henry VII and developments under the rule of Henry VIII. They also study the causes, course and consequences of the Russian Revolution of 1917. Students will also begin to investigate America between 1763-1865 in anticipation of the coursework that they will write in Year 13.

SIS

The SIS will provide a series of articles, videos and questions to further students' thinking in this area.

Assessment

Assessment will take the form of practice essays and source questions based on AQA examination formats. They will be set at the discretion of the teacher.

Homework

Homework will take the form of research tasks, essay questions and work from the SIS to support learning in class.
